

Unlocking Solar for Building Owners

Marcus & Millichap and Lumen Energy have joined forces to offer building owners a new path to unlock the value of solar energy. This partnership brings together Marcus & Millichap's extensive network in real estate with Lumen Energy's cutting-edge solar technology platform. Together, we aim to help building owners reduce operational costs, increase property value, and achieve their sustainability goals through the adoption of solar energy.

Lumen Energy is a leading provider of clean energy solutions for commercial real estate. Using our state-of-the-art platform, we streamline the process of assessing, financing, and deploying solar energy systems. With Lumen, building owners can quickly evaluate solar opportunities, optimize their energy savings, and deploy solar projects that maximize returns.

How the partnership works

Marcus & Millichap brokers work directly with building owners to introduce solar energy opportunities powered by Lumen Energy's platform. Lumen's platform simplifies the entire solar adoption process—from initial assessment to financing and project execution. Our goal is to help you seamlessly integrate solar energy across your properties, unlocking value while contributing to a sustainable future.

Why Solar Matters for Building Owners

Solar energy is more than just an environmental decision—it's a smart financial move for building owners. By installing solar panels, you can:

- ✓ Significantly reduce your energy bills, with potential savings increasing over time as utility rates rise.
- ✓ Increase your property's net operating income (NOI) by lowering operating expenses.
- ✓ Meet growing tenant demand for sustainable, energy-efficient buildings.
- ✓ Enhance your property value with clean energy solutions, appealing to investors and buyers who prioritize ESG factors.

Interested in learning how solar can transform your building? Here's how to get started:

- 1 Schedule a consultation with your Marcus & Millichap broker to explore solar opportunities for your properties.
- 2 Lumen Energy will conduct a comprehensive analysis of your buildings to determine solar feasibility and potential savings.
- 3 Receive a tailored solar proposal that includes financial modeling, system design, and financing options—all without upfront costs.
